Versatile Security delivers a revolutionary approach to managing the lifecycle of smart cards

Versatile Security has just released the vSEC:CMS T-Series. It brings a completely new approach to managing the lifecycle of smart cards, not requiring expensive hardware and dedicated servers. The system is implemented and ready to use in minutes, rather than months of complicated and resource consuming integration work.

Stockholm, Sweden, June 30, 2011 – Versatile Security Sweden AB today announces the release of the vSEC:CMS T-Series.

“It is a very exciting day for the company, as we can finally release this product, which in many ways will change people’s views on how to manage the lifecycle of smart cards. The entire system is delivered and stored on an encrypted USB device. The implementation of the vSEC:CMS T-Series takes minutes, rather than months with current competing solutions. This product makes it possible for the SME market to implement the same high level of smart card security as was previously mostly available to large multinationals and government bodies, due to the resource demands of previously existing solutions,” said Per-Anders Fjärdsäter, CEO and President of Versatile Security Sweden AB.
