Versatile Security Releases the S-Edition

The market leading SME smart card management system vSEC:CMS from Versatile Security has gotten stronger and is now ready for large scale deployments -the much awaited vSEC:CMS T-Series S-Edition is now released.

Stockholm, Sweden, March 14th, 2012 – Versatile Security Sweden AB announces the release of vSEC:CMS[®] T-Series S-Edition. The alternative packaging, that is the S-Edition, removes the requirement for the USB-Token that the T-Series is known for, but it maintains most of the T-Series other characteristics. The new architecture facilitates for having several operators working in parallel without a need for synchronization and each operator only needs to have access to the application (for example published through terminal services) and the operator's operator smart card.

"I am very proud to announce the new edition of vSEC:CMS. We've seen a rising interest in our solutions from larger organizations such as banks and multinational enterprises, now we have an offer that enables us to provide them the same intuitive user interfaces, state of the art features and fast integration as we previously only offered the SME segment. Seeing the T-Series run in a clustered setup with tens of thousands of registered user smart cards and over twenty parallel working operators was truly satisfying and marks the beginning of a new era for Versatile Security," said Per-Anders Fjärdsäter, CEO and President of Versatile Security Sweden AB.
